I. Division Name: CENTRAL MUSEUM VISITOR OPERATIONS DIVISION

The Central Museum Visitor Operations Division (CMVOD) is one of the new divisions of the National Museum (NM) created under the organization process started in 2016. It is the NM’s frontline office responsible in providing visitor reception, information assistance, guiding and other services for enhanced visitor experience. It operates in the Central Museum Complex’s four flagship museums: 1) National Museum of Fine Arts; 2) National Museum of Anthropology; 3) National Museum of Natural History; and 4) National Planetarium.

CMVOD is tasked to supervise the museum guides, supervise the Information and Reservations Team, coordinate with other agencies, organizations, schools, and other establishments, monitor visitor arrivals and represent the National Museum in activities and events that reach out to various markets and audiences.

The Division has a total of twenty-nine (29) staff headed by a Chief Administrative Officer assisted by a Supervising Administrative Officer, one (1) Administrative Officer IV, one (1) Administrative Officer III and one (1) Administrative Assistant II. As of end of 2017, eighteen (18) of these regular positions have been filled. Additional fourteen (14) Museum Engagement Assistants have also been hired as contractually to further help the Division fulfill its mandate.

II. Highlights for 2017

The CMVOD recorded a total of 825,267 visitors for 2017 in the Central Museum Complex. The National Museum of Fine Arts (NMFA) got the highest number of visitors with 350,232 while the National Museum of Anthropology (NMA) came in second with 344,878. The National Planetarium and the one-day public preview of the National Museum of Natural History (NMNH) welcomed 130,157 and 1,196 visitors, respectively.

These numbers can be attributed to the drawing power of the NMFA’s exhibit of works of Filipino masters and contemporary artists and the strength of NMA’s collection of anthropological and archaeological objects. In June 2017, the NMA also opened the entrance facing Rizal Park (Marble Hall) which enabled park revelers to enter the museum with ease. Entrance fees to these two (2) museums have been waived since June of 2016 for more visitors from all walks of life to be able to visit.

The NMNH is still undergoing structural and design works but the public was allowed entry for a free public preview on October 29, 2017 in celebration of the National Museum’s 116th anniversary.

Another highlight was the NP’s upgrade from a manual projection system to a fulldome hybrid projection system capable of conducting both manual and digital shows. These new projection systems, new digital shows and the planetarium’s upgraded facilities (new seats, carpets, curtains, and green roof) were launched on 23 March 2017. Free admission to the shows since its launch until 31 May 2017 showed considerable spike in the number of visitors to the NP. A total of 993 shows for 52,972 and 45,614 free and paying visitors, respectively, were conducted in 2017 generating a revenue of Php 1,729,570.00.

New planetarium digital shows:

A. “Journey to a Billion Suns”
   - This show takes the audience on a beautiful journey through the Milky Way to explore the many questions that have been asked of the origin and evolution of our home galaxy.

B. “A Planet for Goldilocks”
   - This show tells of mankind’s search for an Earth-like planet. It is designed for young people and is also appropriate for the general public.

C. “Hayabusa”
   - This is a story about a Japanese aircraft launched into space to get a sample material from an asteroid named Itokawa. This sample is believed to be the key to find out the secrets of our solar system.

D. “Starry Night Concert”
   - This is a short upbeat and cartoonized montage of the zodiac signs used as introduction to the main planetarium show.

III. Research projects - N/A

IV. Fieldwork - N/A

V. Exhibitions / programs

A. Regular exhibition
   The CMVOD operates the permanent gallery on astronomy at the NP’s octagonal hall which features ethnoastronomy of rice, dioramas of the planets of the solar system, and lightboxes of major constellations, among others. Its free admission was able to continuously draw schoolchildren and astronomy enthusiasts. CMVOD recorded a total of 31,571 visitors of the gallery for 2017.
The NP has also started drafting the script / narrative for a new exhibition for this permanent gallery slated to open in the first semester of 2018. This will replace the old exhibit and will focus on cultural astronomy and modern astronomy in the Philippine setting.

B. Special exhibition

In celebration of Women’s Month 2017, the NP launched the “Women in Astronomy” exhibition which featured notable women in the field of astronomy. It was launched on 23 March 2018 during the inauguration of NP’s Fulldome Hybrid Projection System.

C. Assistance to Opening and Launching of exhibits and other Events

The CMVOD provided assistance to various openings and events of NM Divisions by providing ushering and guest relations services on-demand.

FINE ARTS DIVISION

I. Highlights for 2017

1. Title: HOCUS: The Hofileña and Custodio Paintings
   Gallery XXI, NM of Fine Arts

   The paintings in this exhibition are products of the collaboration between author-historian, Atty. Saul Hofileña, Jr. and artist-conservator Mr. Guy Custodio.

   Most of the paintings in the collection dealt with the Royal Patronage or the Patronato Real — an arrangement between the King of Spain and the Church for the latter to propagate the Catholic Faith to the colonies of Spain. More than paintings, the exhibition also included icons of saints and crucifixes as well as tarot cards, maps and books — that helped in telling the stories of the works.
Objectives:

- To foster art appreciation among the museum public
- To learn Philippine history through the HOCUS paintings

Date: April 18, 2017 – October 29, 2017

Accomplishments:

- The exhibition contributed to the growing statistics of museum visitors in the National Museum
- After the exhibition, the artists donated the painting, La Pesadilla as a Gift to the Nation through the National Museum
- Exhibition opening was among the best-attended receptions in the National Museum of Fine Arts for the year wherein distinguished guests, National Artists, National Museum supporters and benefactors, museum workers, historians and writers graced the event.
- The exhibition and the National Museum garnered promotions and articles through print and online media

IV. VISITOR MANAGEMENT

In 2017, due to the shift of MED’s visitor management function to the Central Museum Visitor Operations Division, much of the work in that aspect was no longer being carried out by MSD staff, with one particular exception – the collation and interpretation of the National Museum’s annual visitor statistics.

As stated above, the following tables and charts represent a summary of data gleaned from visitor survey forms (14,329 pieces) and activity evaluation forms (1,238).

In 2017, the Maritime and Underwater Cultural Heritage Division (MUCHD) continued to fulfill its functions through the implementation of programs, projects, and activities anchored on the National Museum’s mandates. Given continuous attention were (1) the dissemination of scientific and technical knowledge through lectures, exhibitions, interviews and publications; (2) conduct of basic research programs through fieldwork; and, (3) preservation of cultural heritage.

Though a challenging year for the newly created division, it has successfully implemented 5 fieldwork projects, conducted 19 information dissemination activities, and maintained/preserved 7,605 cultural specimens. Following are the highlights of the MUCH Division’s accomplishments vis-à-vis the priority programs of the NM, in accordance with its mandates.

1. DISSEMINATION OF SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNICAL KNOWLEDGE

   Lectures
   Recognizing the need to increase cultural literacy, public awareness and appreciation of our cultural heritage, the MUCH Division supported the National Museum’s info-dissemination campaigns.

   In January, the MUCHD Researchers participated in the Museum’s Archeology Lecture Series Program and presented the following notable topics:
   1. “Lithics Analysis,” by Mr. Sheldon Clyde Jago-on
   2. “Underwater, Maritime and Nautical Archaeology,” by Ms. Ligaya Lacsina, Ph.D.
   3. “Shipwrecks and Ceramics,” by Mr. Bobby Orillaneda.

   Relatedly, another important activity carried out by the Division in support of the dissemination program of the Museum was the Tour with Curators. Started in July, the Researchers of the Division brought museum viewers/visitors to San Diego and Five Centuries Exhibits.
Another dissemination activity provided by the MUCH Division for 2017 was a lecture on the “Plank-Built Boats” presented by Dr. Ligaya Lacsina, during the “Binalot Talks” at the Archaeological Studies Program-University of the Philippines.

At a global level, the MUCH Division intensified its collaborative efforts with international academic institutions and organizations like the University of Guam, USA; Flinders University, Australia; Australian Institute of Maritime Archeology; ASEN-UNESCO; to name a few, in promoting cultural exchanges and enriching everyone with learning and understanding of diverse cultures, with focus on maritime and underwater cultural heritage. Some of the significant topics that were presented / discussed by the MUCHD Researchers were the following:

1. “World War II Underwater Cultural Heritage;” by Mr. Bobby Orillaneda; University of Guam, USA; July 20-24, 2017
3. “Research Potential of the World War II Wrecks in the Philippines;” by Mr. Sheldon Clyde Jago and Dr. Ligaya Lacsina; Australasian Institute of Maritime Archaeology 2017 Conference; Flinders University, Adelaide Australia; September 2017
4. “Underwater Cultural Heritage of Southeast Asia – Protection and Research Management” the “Underwater Archaeology: Enhancing the Protection and Visibility of Maritime Archaeology;” by Mr. Bobby Orillaneda; Terengganu, Malaysia; October 20-23, 2017

Exhibitions
The MUCH Division continues to support the creation/establishment of new exhibitions in the National Museum by providing the necessary/needed technical expertise. For 2017, the MUCHD Researchers assisted in the development of the proposed Philippine Pottery Ceramics Exhibition.

Publications
Still in pursuit of scientific and technical knowledge, MUCH Division Museum Researcher Bobby Orillaneda contributed in the publication of the following:

2. RESEARCH PROGRAMS

Fieldworks
The MUCH Division continuous to maintain linkages with non-government organizations (foreign and local) and various agencies of the government, in support of the research programs of the Museum. In February, significantly done was the Catanauan Underwater Archaeological Research Project. This exploration which resulted in the discovery of artefacts (blue and white sherds, gold buttons, and a coin), was spearheaded by the MUCH Division in partnership with the CGB Archeology, Incorporated.

The MUCHD also worked closely with the Archeology and Ethnology Divisions as regards the Guiuan Eastern Samar Project, specifically the Sulu-an Island. From May 7-15, 2017 the team conducted archaeological and maritime landscape surveys in the area and found a number of ceramic sherds. Included in the discovery were stoneware, celadon, and blue and white pieces. Bone fragments, possibly human, were also seen.

Another notable research was the World War II Battle of Surigao Strait Survey. This project brought together the MUCHD and the Navigea Limited, in search for the submerged wrecks in the Surigao Strait and Ormoc Bay.

3. CONSERVATION PROGRAMS

Over the past years, MUCH Division worked tirelessly to document and conserve the important archaeological artifacts in its possession. By the end 2017, the Museum and Technicians and Laboratory Aide of the Division were able to maintain 7,605 specimens and update the MUCH Collections Database.

The NCCA also took steps in the conservation of the balangay Diwata ng Lahi exhibited at the National Museum of Fine Arts. In partnership with the Archeology Division, the team was able to record and document the hull (first phase of the project), before its scheduled dismantling and storage.
